

Gale Class of 1969 Does It Again

After waiting 35 years to hold the first Gale Class of 1969 reunion, we decided to play catch up, and held the second one just five months later. On Saturday evening September 18, 2004 we met at Andi Katz's charming home, and enjoyed a wonderful evening of reminiscing. Although the turnout was not quite as huge as the first one in April, we enjoyed the presence of a few new students and two of our favorite teachers. The weekend was made a little more special as several of us went out on a few side-outings on Friday evening, Saturday afternoon, and Sunday afternoon. Finally, one of our classmates - Deborah Fox - is producing a short documentary of the weekend, including footage from a recent group tour of Gale School.

If you missed this reunion, or the one in April, please try to make the next one. No, not in 5 months. How about next June? Let's talk .....
